Catholic Super Rated the Most Highly By Members on Financial Performance

Catholic Super has been rated the most highly by members on financial performance compared to 19 other superannuation providers based on recent extensive Roy Morgan Research.

More than 70% of Catholic Super members rated their satisfaction with the fund's performance based on financial investment returns.

"It is great to hear our members are so satisfied with our performance, as we value our excellent performance as being an imperative to the financial security of our members in retirement. At Catholic Super we set hard targets and have not only surpassed them but also significantly beaten the industry average over the past ten years.

If a member invested $50,000 in our balanced fund ten years ago, we would have more than doubled their investment and achieved $105,964 which is $6,683 more than the median industry fund<sup>1</sup>.

"How do we achieve this – being member owned means that at Catholic Super we operate solely in our member's best interest and re-invest all returns back into our members' funds for retirement, none of our returns need to payout dividends or returns to separate shareholders are our members are our owners" said Catholic Super Chief Executive Officer, Frank Pegan.
